This course is designed to cater for complete beginners of the Hebrew language, corresponding to the initial stage of the level "Aleph" (A1). The course will offer students a first taste of Hebrew, focusing on oral communication, basic grammar and lexicon. The students will practise the language in an interactive class environment, whilst at the same time learning a little about Israeli and Jewish culture. The course is not exam-based.

Why Hebrew?
- Modern Hebrew is the language of Israel, one of the world's fastest-growing high-tech economies;
- Hebrew gives you firsthand access to early Jewish thoughts and literature, which play an influential role in history;
- Learning Hebrew can deepen your understanding of the Old Testament and Christianity, which is the most widely practiced religion in the world;
- Hebrew is to a large extent a phonetic language mostly based on a simple three-letter root system which can help you learn the word formation more easily.

R No knowledge of Hebrew is required though applicants should be competent in English.

✉ n.wong@hkuspace.hku.hk

This programme provides systematic training in translation for those who already have degree or equivalent qualifications. It aims at giving students the confidence and competence to deal with translation work at a close to professional level in different settings and contexts. Students should be able to apply the linguistic and cultural concepts learned to the practical tasks of translation and make improvements in translations done by people and/or artificial intelligence after completion of the programme.

The programme also provides a solid foundation for those who plan to study for a higher qualification in translation in the future: holders of the Postgraduate Certificate in Translation can articulate to Postgraduate Diploma in Translation with exemption from the first five modules of the Postgraduate Diploma in Translation programme offered by HKU SPACE.

Ⓡ Applicants shall:
1. hold a bachelor's degree awarded by a recognized university; and
2. pass a one-hour language competency test*.
*Applicants who have obtained the following qualifications as proofs of their proficiency in English and Chinese will be exempted from the language competency test:
i) HKDSE Examination English and Chinese Language at Level 4 or above; or
ii) HKALE Use of English and Chinese Language and Culture at Grade D or above; or
iii) equivalent qualifications.
Those who do not meet the standard set of criteria for admission will be considered on individual merit.

The programme is designed to equip students with the necessary skills and knowledge to perform translation work across various settings and contexts. The primary objective is to instill a sense of confidence and competence in students, enabling them to do translation work at a level that closely mirrors professional standards. This will be achieved through practical exercises that simulate real-world translation scenarios, including assessing translation works done by artificial intelligence. Students are encouraged to apply the linguistic and cultural concepts they have learned throughout the programme to practical tasks, including the final Translation Project module.

In addition to providing students with practical training, the programme also lays a solid foundation for further academic pursuits. It prepares students for higher qualifications by providing them with a comprehensive understanding of translation theories and methodologies.

Ⓡ Applicants shall
- hold a bachelor's degree awarded by a recognized university; and
- pass a three-hour language competency test*.
* Applicants who pass a 3-hour competency test will be given advanced standing and start the programme from Module 6.
